With family and philanthropic work, Jolie has eased back on film projects, with future prospects including a possible sequel to her action hit "Salt," in which she played a sexy CIA agent on the run.

Earlier in the day, he had called me at work to ask if we should “do something” about the black crows that have nested in our front yard tree.